

Jayme Thompson

School of Applied Studies

Bachelor of Criminal Justice & Bachelor of Arts Forensic Investigation & Psychology

As a first-generation student, I did not have a lot of guidance on how I was supposed to go about college. I was also a transfer student, going from online college to in person. However, slowly, and surely, I gained confidence in my future career, I found my home within Student Media and was able to manage through the stumbles of time management while being a double major. As I enter the criminal justice system in the future, I feel very prepared through the varying opportunities I have been able to have. Washburn has great resources on campus for students to learn about forensic science and allows so many chances to learn outside of the classroom. Upon my graduation, I will be pursuing a Master of Science in forensic sciences from Oklahoma State University and plan to become a crime scene investigator.