

Students exhibit art at Mulvane Art Museum

Released: March 20, 2009

TOPEKA - Works by 44 Washburn University students will be featured in the 2009 student art show open April 4 to June 7 at the Mulvane Art Museum, Washburn University. No admission is charged.

The show will open with a reception for the artists from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, April 3, at the museum.

The students take the responsibility for installing their works in the museum and producing wall labels. The exhibition gives the students and community an opportunity to see these works in a professional setting. Juror for the event was Armon A. Means, assistant professor/area coordinator of photography, Kansas State University.

According to Glenda Taylor, chairwoman of the WU art department, the annual juried student exhibition is the highlight of the year for the department.

"Our students have the opportunity to exhibit their best work in a professional gallery and experience the accomplishment of artistic acceptance by the outside juror," she said. "We always look forward to seeing our best student works presented together. The students and faculty are proud to share this exhibition with the public at the Mulvane Art Museum."
